Juror/Judge

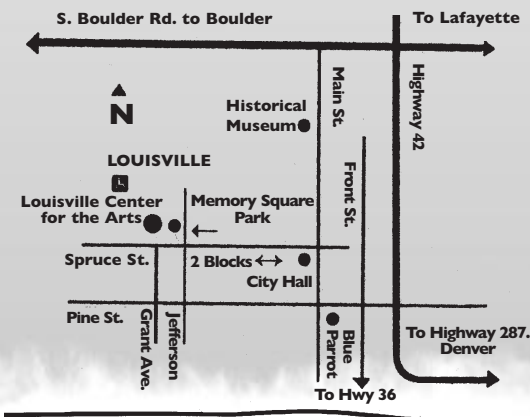

Hal Gould founded the Colorado Photographic Art Center in 1963 - one of the first venues devoted exclusively to showing and promoting fine art photography. In 1980, he opened The Camera Obscura Gallery <www.cameraobscuragallery.com> in Devner and has built a reputation for exhibiting such stellar masters as Ansel Adams, Edward & Brett Weston, Andre Kertesz, Manuel Alvarez Bravo, Imogen Cunningham, Paul Strand, Edward S. Curtis, Sebastiao Salgado, and many others.

Besides being a tireless advocate of photographic art, Gould is himself a master photographer. The same artistry he promotes in his Devner Gallery is evident in his own work. After training at the Art Institute of Chicago in the 1940's as a portrait painter, he was inspired by photographers such as Alfred Stieglitz and Man Ray and embarked on photographic studies at the Institute and at Ray Vogue School of Photography. He operated a commercial studio for 25 years, while also pursuing his personal vision--a vision that reflects a broad diversity of style and technique.

Photographs by Hal Gould (check out his exhibit at <http://www.c4fap.org/online_exhibits/gould/index.htm>) are part of several corporate and private collections and have been exhibited widely, including at the Denver Art Museum in 2000. He has received numerous awards, among which are the prestigious National Award--the Professional Photographers of America's top award and the Gold Medal Grand Prize in the International Federation of Photographer's Competition in Riga, Latvia.
